

Wording Suggestion for Amending the Privacy Policy for Event Registrations

Disclaimer

These formulations are non-binding suggestions. Due to the numerous possible use cases for the application of the doo platform, we cannot provide uniform and binding wording assistance. These formulation suggestions do not constitute legal advice in individual cases and cannot replace legal advice in individual cases. For sound legal advice in a specific individual case, please contact your lawyer.

Event registrations

You can register to events on our website. When you register for and participate in an event, we will process your personal data collected as part of the registration process and in connection with your participation in the respective event for the purpose of processing your registration and providing for your participation in the event.

As part of the registration and participation in an event, we will send information by post and / or email to the contact details you provided.

Legal basis for this is Art. 6 para. 1 lit. b GDPR, i.e. the fulfillment of the contract for participation in the respective event or the implementation of pre-contractual measures, which are carried out at your request.

We use the service provider doo GmbH, Hultschiner Str. 8, 81677 Munich, Germany, for event registrations and event management. Please find detailed information on data processing and data protection at doo in the doo privacy policy under the following link:

Payment processing with Novalent

We have integrated components of Novalnet AG for payment processing when booking for fee required events. Novalnet AG is a full payment service provider that handles payment processing, among other things. If you select a payment method when booking a fee required event, personal data is automatically transmitted to Novalnet AG. By selecting a payment option, you consent to this transmission of personal data for the processing of the payment. The personal data transmitted to Novalnet AG are usually first name, last name, address, date of birth, gender, email address, IP address, telephone number, cell phone number and other data necessary for the processing of a payment. Also necessary for the processing of the contract are such personal data that are related to the respective order. In particular, it may come to the exchange of payment information, such as bank details, card number, validity date and CVC code, data on goods and services or prices. The transmission of data is aimed in particular at identity verification, payment administration and fraud prevention. Personal data is transmitted to Novalnet AG in particular if there is a legitimate interest for the transmission. The personal data exchanged between Novalnet AG and us may be transmitted by Novalnet AG to credit agencies. The purpose of this transmission is to check identity and creditworthiness. Novalnet AG also passes on the personal data to service providers or subcontractors insofar as this is necessary for the fulfillment of contractual obligations or the data is to be processed. The data subject has the possibility to turn to Novalnet AG in order to revoke the consent to the handling of personal data at any time. A revocation does not affect personal data that must necessarily be processed, used or transmitted for (contractual) payment processing.
